University Notes

The big university pipe organ was formally played for the first time in Waller chapel this morning when Dr. Frank Wilbur Chase played the big manual organ to the great inspiration and delight of the assembled student body and faculty members. It is planned to dedicate the organ with an appropriate program at an early date.

According to a custom established in 1913 by the present senior class of Willamette university, the pea green postage stamp caps appeared on the mauls of some 50 odd freshmen this morning to furnish a pleasing contrast with the sea autumnal hues of early fall. All male members of Willamette's 1920 class are required to wear the lurid sky piece for a period of approximately seven months as it is "the consensus of opinion that this is a wise and desirable action in that it is a good means of advertising the university in the city of Salem, in that it tends to create a proper respect for upperclassmen, and in creating a spirit of unity and loyalty among the freshmen themselves."

The rules for the wearing of the caps provide that the evergreen class must conform to the rules established by the class of 1917 which are that:

1. All freshmen boys shall don green caps not later than the third Monday after the opening of the university year.

2. Green caps shall be worn exclusively by all freshmen boys, except on Sundays and vacations, from the third Monday of the school year to the beginning of Thanksgiving recess, and from Washington's birthday until May the first, during the day from sunrise to seven p. m., and all student rallies and athletic affairs.

3. The freshmen shall discard their green caps publicly at the May Day Festival, making it the subject of an original stunt.

4. A permanent committee shall be established, consisting of the president of the student body, and a representative from each of the two upper classes; to whom all violations of the rules concerning the wearing of the caps shall be reported, and who shall have power to grant exemptions to individuals whose health shall be endangered or whose professional duties shall be seriously interfered with by the wearing of said caps, or for any other reasons that the committee sees to be just and reasonable.

5. The freshmen shall discard their green caps publicly at the May Day Festival, making it the subject of an original stunt.

6. A permanent committee shall be established, consisting of the president of the student body, and a representative from each of the two upper classes; to whom all violations of the rules concerning the wearing of the caps shall be reported, and who shall have power to grant exemptions to individuals whose health shall be endangered or whose professional duties shall be seriously interfered with by the wearing of said caps, or for any other reasons that the committee sees to be just and reasonable.

FAIR WAS GREATEST IN STATES HISTORY

Sunday Feature Not a Success—Only About 1500 Passing the Gates

The experiment of continuing the state fair on Sunday did not prove a glittering success. Barely 1500 passed through the gates yesterday, and this in the face of the fact that no admission was charged after 3 o'clock.

This failure of the Sunday experiment is attributed to several causes, principal among which was the failure to appear of the Portland people, at whose request the show was continued.

At two o'clock this afternoon the fair grounds were practically deserted. The tented city outside the gates is gone, with the exception of a few tents, and these are going fast.

Few of the officers are to be seen. The strain over, they are taking a much needed rest preparatory to making up the final reports and giving attention to the tag ends of what has been the greatest fair in the history of the state.

Attendance 82,000. The attendance for the seven days ending last night, according to estimates of A. H. Lea, secretary of the state fair board, was 82,000 persons, and the money taken in from all sources was approximately $50,000, or $10,000 more than was taken in during the 1915 fair, which held the record hitherto, and $27,000 more than last year. The attendance this year was double that of the best previous state fair.

Admissions About $35,000. The books of the state fair had not been balanced last night, but Secretary Lea said he estimated that paid admissions for the week would total $35,000. The grandstand receipts, he said, were about $4,000, concessions $5,000, and receipts from race and exhibit entries and miscellaneous sources approximately $6,000.

Estimates of the attendance for each day of the fair are as follows: Monday, 2,000; Tuesday, 2,000; Wednesday, 30,000; Thursday, 20,000; Friday, 12,000; Saturday, 5,000; Sunday, 2,000. Total, 82,000.

Wednesday, Salem day, and Thursday, Portland day, were the big days of the fair. On Wednesday the receipts from all sources were $19,000, and on Thursday $17,500 were taken in.

Premiums Total $26,000. The premium list this year was much larger than ever before, amounting to $26,000. Uses offered in the different races at Lone Oak track brought the total awards up to $40,000. The prizes this year were increased by the addition of the horse show, which proved one of the most attractive features of the entire week. Awards amounting to $3,000 were made in this event, which will be repeated annually.

So great was the success of the fair that members of the board already are planning for a larger exhibition next year. Every member of the board said today that they ascribed the success of the fair to the good weather, which brought the crowds, and the harmony which prevailed among the members of the board and the exhibitors. They all gave great credit to Mr. Lea for his efforts, which had brought in more and better exhibits from all parts of the state, and obtained greater variety of attractions to please fair visitors.

Want More Buildings. The success of the horse show and the need of a suitable place to hold it, and other gatherings during the fair have caused a general demand for the erection of a coliseum next year.

More barns also are needed to care for the stock exhibits. There are now 13 stock barns. These all were filled this year, and additional tents were erected to house stock which could not be accommodated in the barns.

Art and Women's Building Wanted. A building to house the art department, and women's exhibits also is desired, as well as the repair of some of the present structures which were built years ago. The Salem Woman's club has decided to present the question of the erection of a fireproof building for the art department to the state federation of women's clubs, which will meet at Seaside October 9 to 12.

It is the desire to have the state federation advocate legislative provision for the erection of a fireproof building for the art department to the state federation of women's clubs, which will meet at Seaside October 9 to 12.

The fair board will meet in the near future to discuss the needs of the fair and decide what financial aid from the legislature will be necessary if the desired improvements are made.

The 1915 legislative appropriation for the state fair was $38,931 for two years. The appropriation was designed to provide $15,000 each year for prizes, and the remainder was for improvements and to make up a deficiency.

impair, and if there are any who do not so believe they should hear her and be convinced. There will be music and probably a song or two but the details of the program have not yet been completed. Do not overlook this for it promises to be a memorable occasion.

Saturday's Session Was Last Business Day of Conference

Lebanon, Or., Sept. 30.—The last business day of the Oregon Methodist conference opened this morning with a love feast.

This was the busy day of the conference. The cabinet of superintendents was still closeted with the bishop, making final arrangements for the appointments to be announced Monday morning.

The Oregon conference preachers are pleased with their new bishop, Matthew Simpson Hughes.

Sound Pastors May Come Here

It is reported about the conference corridors that Rev. George F. Hopkins will be transferred to Raymond, Wash. Rev. H. W. Hummel will go to the Bellingham, Wash., district, and Rev. W. C. Stewart is predicted for Bend, in the Columbia River conference. In his place Rev. Mr. Koegy will be admitted to this conference from the Columbia River conference and it is also said Rev. E. G. Decker of the Puget Sound conference, will come to Oregon.

Dr. Edgar Blake of Chicago, who has made daily addresses, is the authority for the statement that the Methodist church has made a greater percentage of growth from 1912 to 1916 than during the 12 years from 1896 to 1908, and that those who say that the world is growing worse and more worldly speak of what they know not.

The conference has had a competent board of secretaries who have kept the work of the session up to date, and no delays have been occasioned on their account.

Church Women Provide Meals

The women of the local churches have come to the relief of the hotels by giving dinners for the visitors. The Methodists had charge on two days and the Presbyterians and Christians each one day. The preachers have been loud in praise of the hospitality of Lebanon.

Miss Morris of Springfield, who has given more than $20,000 this year towards the erection of a new brick church in that city, was a conspicuous member of the laymen's session.

The ministers' wives' association held its annual banquet and session in Hotel Lebanon today and elected officers for the ensuing year. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. C. Rich, of Klamath Falls, president. The retiring officers are: Mrs. M. C. Reed of Ashland, vice president; Mrs. G. H. Bennett of Dallas, secretary, and Mrs. After many toasts and responses were made by the women, they closed their session by electing the following officers for next year: Honorary president, Mrs. M. S. Hughes, wife of Bishop Hughes, a new office created by a resolution at this session; president, Mrs. D. Lester Fields, vice president, Mrs. D. H. Leach; secretary, Mrs. Dunlop; treasurer, Mrs. W. S. Gordon.

New Churches Erected

Dr. J. W. McDougall, who retires as superintendent of the Portland district of the Methodist church of the Oregon conference, gave his farewell report to the conference this week. He says that one of the successful institutions of Methodism is the industrial center, under the auspices of the Home Missionary society, at First and Caruthers streets, Portland.

The report further says that there have been organized during the last six years five new charges on the district; six new buildings have been dedicated at a cost of $130,000, two new parsonages erected worth $5500; the Portland Industrial Center, worth $12,000, and a Deaconess' home, worth $12,000, all making a total church property added during the six years of more than $160,000. This does not include large sums expended for repairs and additions.

Salaries Show Big Gains

In 1910 the salaries paid the pastors of the district, exclusive of rents, were $27,874, and in 1916 they received $35,125, a net gain in salaries paid of $7,248. There were in 1900 5536 members of the church in the district, and 1915 shows a membership of 7691, a gain of 2155, and this year will probably show a further increase of at least 500 more which would make a net gain of 2655.

In 1910 there were 5691 Sunday school scholars in the district and in 1916 there are 9298, a gain of 3607.

The total disciplinary benevolences in 1910 were $9079, and in 1915 there were $11,590, and other benevolences in 1910 were $21,035, and those in 1915 were $27,332, an increase in all benevolences of $9400.

The report further says that "rarely in the history of the Northwest country was there such a stagnation, such utter loss in trade and commerce, deeper unrest among wage earners or more men out of employment than during the past three years."

Sunday School Expert Talks

The afternoon program of the conference was one of the most interesting of the session. The session was presided over by Rev. A. R. McLean, with Rev. G. L. Tufts the speaker on "World Sabbath." This was followed by the last of the addresses by Dr. Edgar Blake of Chicago on "Sunday School Evangelism."

Dr. Blake is at the head of the Sunday school extension work of the Methodist church in the United States and is accredited with being the best informed man on Methodism in the Sunday school work.

The official program gave the 4 o'clock hour as consecration, but Dr. Joseph Smith of Redlands, Cal., who is a visitor at the conference, was invited to speak and gave one of the big addresses of the conference.

Japanese Missionary Heard

The first of the evening program was in behalf of the board of conference claimants with Dr. W. T. Kerr presiding and Rev. George F. Hopkins as the speaker.

The rest of the evening was given over to the board of foreign missions, with an address by Professor H. B. Schwartz of Japan, who is at present a member of the faculty of Pacific College at San Jose, Cal. Professor Schwartz spent years as a missionary to Japan and he does not apprehend any danger to America from the yellow peril.

RIPLEY--LABOR WOULD HAVE ALL; FITZGERALD--CAPITAL WOULD CRUSH LABOR

Capital is putting up a more serious attempt than ever to combat the power of the labor organization. The fight to declare unconstitutional the eight hour law which congress passed for the brotherhoods has already been started by E. P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad. He believes the growing strength of labor will eventually demand everything in sight until a social revolution will result. In his defiance of the eight hour law he says: "Congress, hastily acting under a threat of four leaders of organizations, enacted a so called eight hour law, which is nothing more nor less than an advance of 20 to 25 per cent in the wages of the best paid men in the railway service. It is only fair to the public and to our employees to say that Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company does not intend to comply with the law until ordered to do so by the court of last resort." On the other hand William B. Fitzgerald, labor organizer who tied up the traction systems of New York twice, says capital throughout the country is using every effort to crush labor organizations. In a statement he says: "Mr. Shonts and Mr. Hedley of the Interborough traction system of New York have acted like overlords to us. They believe arrogance and bulldozing will succeed where other tactics have failed. The New York railway company's men struck because the company has brazenly, openly and defiantly broken an agreement which was solemnly made during the strike in August. The Interborough men struck because the company is using every means in its power to crush their organization, to intimidate and frighten them."

The vote was taken on a proposition to return to work into the present wage schedule, and after 10 days, the question of wages is to be arbitrated. It is said that from 75 to 80 per cent of the strikers have accepted this plan.

The following statement was issued at noon today by William Blackman, Seattle's Long Strike In Way of Settlement

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 2.—Only awaiting the final count of a vote taken by striking longshoremen Sunday, a settlement of the long drawn out strike on Seattle's water front seemed certain today.

The vote was taken on a proposition to return to work into the present wage schedule, and after 10 days, the question of wages is to be arbitrated. It is said that from 75 to 80 per cent of the strikers have accepted this plan.

"The only question which the longshoremen are now considering is whether they call the strike off and return to work under the wages and conditions now in existence, and after ten working days the question of wages can be arbitrated by the men employed."

"The question of fifty five cents per hour straight time and $2 1-2 cents per hour overtime, is not considered."

STOCKYARDS BURNED

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 2.—Firemen this afternoon gave up hope of saving the Union Stock Yards here from a fire that started shortly before noon.

It is believed that the fire was started by incendiaries, who fired several bales of straw near the loading chutes in the hog pens. More than 1,400 hogs in pens nearby were hauled away safely, but several carloads of cattle were turned loose from the pens and run wild about the yards.
